An invitation to help shape regenerative sanctuaries, intentional eco-communities and a culture of reciprocity.

MUNAY AYNI SANCTUARY LTD

Australian registered charity / Vision edition / October 2026

A SANCTUARY IS SOMETHING WE CREATE

Care for the land.
Make room for each other.

We imagine places where restoring nature and supporting one another are part of everyday life. Forests that can regenerate. Wildlife with room to thrive. Food grown with care. A community where there is space to learn, gather, create, and belong.

01 / LIVING EARTH

Land and ecological care

Reforestation, habitat restoration, healthy soil and waterways, food growing, and practical stewardship guided by the needs of each place.

02 / LIVING CULTURE

Culture, learning and connection

Gatherings, creative expression, intergenerational learning, and respectful cultural exchange developed with the people who hold the knowledge.

03 / LIVING COMMUNITY

Reciprocity in everyday life

Cooperation, supported participation, shared skills, and a thoughtful path towards intentional communities that can sustain their work.

Our work grows from Munay Living Earth Wisdom. People of different backgrounds are welcome to explore how they can contribute to this shared vision.

TWO PATHWAYS TAKING SHAPE

Finding the right place. Gathering the right people.

DEVELOPING VISION / SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Adelaide sanctuary & intentional community

A proposed project around approximately 150 acres in the Adelaide region. Omora is bringing people together with interested landowners to explore land acquisition, regeneration, food growing, culture, education, and community life.

Help needed: a practical working group; property, ecology and planning expertise; a costed stewardship model; and people interested in contributing to the acquisition pathway.

EXPLORING POSSIBILITIES / EAST COAST

An East Coast sanctuary

An emerging search for suitable land and aligned people on Australia's east coast. The starting point is local relationships, ecological suitability, affordability, and a realistic plan for caring for the place.

Help needed: land leads, consenting host landholders, venue connections, and experience in planning, sustainable design, conservation, and community development.

Where things stand
Neither project is presented as purchased land or an established residential community. This is an invitation to collaborate, with property suitability, permissions and community arrangements still to develop.

A CROWDFUNDING PROJECT

A Home for Uncle Wiruungga.

A home. A way to travel. A place for art and cultural connection.

The campaign vision is a suitable bus that can serve as Uncle Wiruungga's home and travelling gallery, supporting his ability to share cultural workshops and attend gatherings.

WAYS TO HELP

Practical generosity can make a difference.

Bring a suitable vehicle lead, mechanical or fit-out expertise, fundraising support, event connections, or resources that fit the project's needs.

The existing campaign page is the place to review its current appeal and contribution terms. A cultural event and workshop with Uncle Wiruungga is also being developed; dates are not yet announced.

EXPLORE THE EXISTING CAMPAIGN

The campaign is included here as an existing community appeal. Final project ownership, budget and charitable administration arrangements should be clear in campaign information before contributions are made.

SANCTUARY WITHOUT WALLS

Begin where we are.

We can start through suitable partner venues and consenting landholders while developing the longer-term sanctuary vision.

PROPOSED PILOT

Living Earth Community Circles

Gatherings and online circles for belonging, reciprocity, shared learning, and connection with the living earth.

PROPOSED COLLABORATIONS

Land & Wildlife Stewardship

Restoration days, native habitat work, and ecological learning with suitable sites and experienced partners.

PROPOSED CULTURAL WORK

Culture & Intergenerational Learning

Conversations, creative exchange, and learning resources developed with knowledge holders and agreed permissions.

PROPOSED ACCESS PATHWAY

Supported Participation & Shared Skills

Develop supported places and practical volunteer roles so people can contribute according to their capacity.

These are development pathways. Delivery dates, host venues, partners, and supported places will be announced when confirmed.

BRING WHAT YOU CAN

Your gifts can help the work take root.

TIME & SKILLS

Help with something practical.

Conservation, food growing, events, administration, design, translation, community building, or project coordination. We'll explore a bounded role that matches your skills and availability.

LAND & CONNECTIONS

Open a door. Share a place.

Introduce a suitable landholder, offer a venue, help assess a property, or connect us with people who have ecological and community experience.

RESOURCES & SUPPORT

Help create the conditions.

Explore in-kind contributions, fundraising, sponsorship, or philanthropic support for a clearly described project. Contribution arrangements and intended uses come before commitments.

You do not need to donate to be part of the conversation. Curiosity, willingness, and a useful introduction can be a meaningful beginning.

HONEST PROJECT STAGES

Ideas become plans. Plans become work.

We distinguish emerging visions, proposals, live campaign materials, and completed delivery. The earlier Byrrill Creek / Evolve acquisition did not proceed.

INDEPENDENT PURPOSE

Support belongs with its agreed project.

Munay Temple and Conscious Flow are separate organisations. Any collaboration needs a clear scope and arrangement. Public-benefit activities and commercial offerings are recorded distinctly.

Donation information: Munay Ayni Sanctuary Ltd is currently not entitled to receive tax-deductible gifts. Our approach is to explain project uses, keep clear records, and share meaningful progress as work develops.
